SECURITY AWARENESS FORUM for EDUCATORS

NEW!

NEW!

The three day SAFE will address how to create an effective security awareness and education program and how to overcome various challenges faced by those tasked with security awareness and education duties. There will be discussion of how the security professional can create a program with little or no money, gain management support, motivate coworkers, promote himself or herself, tailor a program to the needs of a unique workforce, and other related issues. Attendees will be guided in discussions of these various topics by experienced and innovative security awareness and education practitioners. Attendees, employing their own experiences with security awareness and education combined with what they have recently learned during the Forum, will be assigned to smaller groups tasked with tackling these challenges. They will share their solutions with the entire group.

Target Group: All Federal civilian, Federal contractor and military personnel who implement the security education and awareness programs at their respective organizations.

Clearance Requirement: None

Cost: None
